REQUIRED TEXTBOOKS

Please remember that Semester at Sea takes place on a ship. Consequently, we need more lead time than a land-based campus to work with the CSU Bookstore to manage textbooks. Carefully select your textbooks, and remember that you cannot make any changes to your required textbooks after we have sent the list to CSU, which usually happens about three months prior to course registration opening for students. The textbooks listed on the syllabus that we send to CSU for approval should not change, short of serious extenuating circumstances.

In addition to the one field class, students will complete independent field assignments that span multiple countries.

Field Class & Assignment

[Field Class proposals listed below are not finalized. Confirmed ports, dates, and times will be posted to the Fall 2017 Courses and Field Class page when available.]

Field Class attendance is mandatory for all students enrolled in this course. Do not book individual travel plans or a Semester at Sea sponsored trip on the day of your field class. Field Classes constitute at least 20% of the contact hours for each course, and are developed and led by the instructor.

Proposal Title #1: Hospitality Education and Industry in China

Country: Shanghai, China

Description: The field class will begin with a visit to the Shanghai Institute of Tourism, where you will meet students and faculty from that institution. We will then visit a local hotel chain for a tour and to understand how the tourism/hospitality industry in Shanghai is catering to the changing consumers.

Objectives: (1) Students will learn about the significance of hospitality education in China to the workforce in the country and about career opportunities and expectations by interacting with students in the program.

(2) Students will learn a local hospitality business by visiting the business and by talking with managers and employees.

Evaluation: The objective of the field class is that the students develop keen powers of observation and employ writing skills and various communication technologies to record and evaluate their experiences. Therefore, class assignments have been outlined above as reflection papers that will draw on their own written field report to be complemented with pictures and field notes as appropriate.

Proposal Title #2: Hospitality Education and Industry in Ghana

Country: Tema, Ghana

Idea: The field class will begin with a visit to the African Institute of Hospitality in Tema, where you will meet students and faculty from that institution (<http://www.africaninstitutehospitality.com/p/contact-us.html>). We will then visit a local hotel chain for a tour and to understand how the tourism/hospitality industry in Ghana is catering to the changing consumers.

Objectives: (1) Students will learn about the significance of hospitality education in Ghana to the workforce in the country and about career opportunities and expectations by interacting with students in the program.

(2) Students will learn a local hospitality business by visiting the business and by talking with managers and employees.

Evaluation: The objective of the field class is that the students develop keen powers of observation and employ writing skills and various communication technologies to record and evaluate their experiences. Therefore, class assignments have been outlined above as reflection papers that will draw on their own written field report to be complemented with pictures and field notes as appropriate.

Independent Field Assignments

Group Project: The goal of this assignment is for students to research and better understand how hospitality industry vary across the globe and to share that understanding with the class. Students will work in self-selected teams (3-4 students per team) to further explore the topic of interest to the team. Teams will design their projects in a way that adds to the overall class learning. Teams may choose to focus on a particular segment, a broad theme or trend applied specifically in the hospitality industry.

Below is a list of potential topic areas. Each topic will require teams to compare and contrast a hospitality trend across three predetermined countries (listed below) along the voyage. Students should consider their interest in the topic, the focal comparison countries, their personal travel plans, the scheduled presentation date, and other course requirements/assignments when selecting their group.

Also, each team should include their overall hospitality industry evaluation by observing and analyzing key products/services, service attitude by residents and service providers, servicescapes, popular brands, and other unique characteristics of the hospitality industry in each country.

Each team is required to submit a topic proposal for approval on or before 9/19. The proposal should include names of all team members, a detailed description of the proposed approach to examining the issue, plan for gathering in-country and out-of-country data, and a preliminary lesson plan. All students are required to deliver a portion of the presentation and a Q&A period must be incorporated within the presentation. No two teams can work on the same topic. In the event two teams inadvertently select the same topic preference will be given to the first team that submits their proposal for approval.

Options for Groups 1 and 2 – Present on 10/18
Comparison across: Spain, Ghana, and South Africa

Options for Groups 3 and 4 – Present on 11/12
Comparison across: Mauritius, India, and Myanmar

Options for Groups 5 and 6 – Present on 12/11

♣ Wild Card (any team can develop and submit an alternative topic for consideration)

Evaluation: It's your turn to teach! Each team is responsible for leading a 30-minute class discussion on their topic. A written paper is not required; instead students will be responsible for creating and delivering a comprehensive and interactive PowerPoint presentation. A key "take-a-way" slide must be incorporated in your presentation along with a bibliography containing your sources and suggestions for further recommended readings. Teams will be evaluated based upon the depth of their analysis, quality of their presentation/delivery, level of engagement with the class, interactive components, response to audience questions, quality of supplemental materials, non-presenting student feedback, and a within group peer assessment. Each team member is expected to provide a significant contribution to each team's project. Though this is a team project, individual grades may vary based upon peer feedback. Incorporate your own photos, brochures, pamphlets, menus, video clips into your presentation.

Attendance in all Semester at Sea classes, including the Field Class, is mandatory. Students must inform their instructors prior to any unanticipated absence and take the initiative to make up missed work in a timely fashion. Instructors must make reasonable efforts to enable students to make up work which must be accomplished under the instructor's supervision (e.g., examinations, laboratories). In the event of a conflict in regard to this policy, individuals may appeal using established CSU procedures.

LEARNING ACCOMMODATIONS

Semester at Sea provides academic accommodations for students with diagnosed learning disabilities, in accordance with ADA guidelines. Students who will need accommodations in a class, should contact ISE to discuss their individual needs. Any accommodation must be discussed in a timely manner prior to implementation.

A memo from the student's home institution verifying the accommodations received on their home campus is required before any accommodation is provided on the ship. Students must submit this verification of accommodations to academic@isevoyages.org as soon as possible, but no later than two months prior to the voyage.

STUDENT CONDUCT CODE

The foundation of a university is truth and knowledge, each of which relies in a fundamental manner upon academic integrity and is diminished significantly by academic misconduct. Academic integrity is conceptualized as doing and taking credit for one's own work. A pervasive attitude promoting academic integrity enhances the sense of community and adds value to the educational process. All within the University are affected by the cooperative commitment to academic integrity. All Semester at Sea courses adhere to this Academic Integrity Policy and Student Conduct Code.

Depending on the nature of the assignment or exam, the faculty member may require a written declaration of the following honor pledge: "I have not given, received, or used any unauthorized assistance on this exam/assignment."
