Readers often ask librarians for help finding these kinds of books. And we can't figure out the mystery every single time, but we do have a few tricks to help find the answer. First, pin down everything you can remember about the book, plot, character names, time period in which the book may have been published, genre, etc. All these details are clues in identifying the title and author of the book. Online resources can help with your search for a half-remembered book, even if all you have is a basic plot line. Searching yourself is a good place to start; then, you can post to a listserv or di by Jane Garmey December 5, 2016. Gardening enthusiast Bunny Mellon was also a formidable collector. Eighty items from her Virginia library are on display at the New York Botanical Garden, including this oil painting, Dandelion, 1990, by Sophie Grandval. Top: Detail of Magnolia grandiflora, ca. 1820. A 1982 photo captures Mellon looking through a horticultural book while her terrier, Patrick, keeps an eye on the goings on outside.
