According to United States Citizenship and Immigration Services, a record high number of H-1B visas are still available, about 11,000. The cap for H-1B visas for the fiscal 2010-2011 year still has not been reached. According to United States Citizenship and Immigration Services, a record high number of H-1B visas are still available, about 11,000. In 2009, it took until December for the cap to be reached. Most years, the visas are only available for a few days as they are all snatched up right after they become available. For example in 2008, the United States Citizenship and Immigration Services had to develop a computerized draw to determine who would get a visa because of so many immediate applications. Tickets still available for society members and non-members. Oxford Brookes Marketing Society - OBMS. 6 April. OBMS is hosting Bubble Student on the 22nd of February to speak to the society about how to turn business ideas into a successful start-up. Bubble Student launched near the end of 2016 and are an app which currently lists around 40,000 properties student houses across the UK and allows students to create groups with future housemates to share their favourite houses and book viewings instantly. They have recently received a large amount of investment from large investors such as Rupert Hambro, who is now their Chairman, which is allowing them to begin to expand the app further.
