Edition:

Book Size: 210mm x 140mm

Pages: 272

Volumes:

Condition: Good

Jacket Condition:

Binding: Hardcover

Description: Ex lib with the usual stamps and markings. Today close on twenty years after the death of Sir Wilfred Grenfell, the mission he founded for the physical and spiritual welfare of the people of Labrador and Northern Newfoundland, and for the fishermen who work on these dangerous coasts, has grown to a size and usefulness unique in the history of privately conducted and voluntarily supported missions. The work of the Grenfell Mission , so ably continued under the devoted care of Dr Charles Curtis, so now covers the welfare of all those who work and live on some two thousand miles of coastline, in Labrador from Cape Chidley, at the entrance to Hudson Bay, to the Quebec boundary, and along the Northern and part of the Eastern coasts of Newfoundland.

Volumes:

Condition: Good

Jacket Condition: Fair

Binding: Hardcover

Description: Pen markings from previous owner to inside front cover. When Jo Grimond was Leader of the parliamentary Liberal party,(1956-1967)and much in the public eye, he impressed his fellow countrymen as an honest and engaging man with original views, wisdom and powers of persuasion. His memoirs bear out this impression . These are emphatically not the views of an egocentric and power hungry politician. Jo Grimonds comments on public affairs are objective percipient and generous.

Description: A Countrys Parson James Woodfords Diary 1759-1802. First published between 1924 and 1931, the diary of Parson James Woodfoerde (1740-1803)has been a constant source of delight and amusement to thousands of readers. This Norfolk clerics keen wit and acute observation of English rural life in the eighteenth century makes him one of our greatest diarists to be ranked with pepys and Evelyn. This edition of the diary, with an authoritaive introduction by Ronald Blythe, is superbly illustrated with watercolours from the contemporaneous Norwich school of painting, portraits of Woodfordes family and specially commisioned drawings by Rosalind Caldecott of the churches, houses and landscapes wich Woodforde describes so vividly in his writing. £3.00 postage and packing.

Volumes:

Condition: Good

Jacket Condition:

Binding: Hardcover

Description: Faded on boards. Otherwise book is in good condition for age. ex lib with the usual stamps and markings. It has been thought desirable to preface the correspondence with a commentary in which the two letter writers are studied at some lenght, since both have been to some extent the victims of biographical injustice, and an attempt is made to set their correspondence against its full historical background.This narrative is founded upon the copious material already available, the new letters, and unpublished correspondence of Mr Gladstone with his family and colleagues. The papers included in the present volume and their accompanying Commentary relate to the years of friendship and sympathy between the Sovereign and her Minister and to the dawn of her distaste for him, which provided the unhappy keynote of their later years.

Police Sgt. Rowan arrives at Wallace Harbour from mainland New Zealand to investigate a baffling series of murders on isolated Stewart Island, and is sickened by what he finds. What Rowan will soon discover is that The Thing from Another World has finally made a beachhead on the doorstep to our civilized world, seeking out new flesh and ready to wreak the necessary havoc to get it. The Thing from Another World, sometimes referred to as just The Thing, is a 1951 American black-and-white science fiction-horror film, directed by Christian Nyby, produced by Edward Lasker for Howard Hawks' Winchester Pictures Corporation, and released by RKO Pictures. The film stars Margaret Sheridan, Kenneth Tobey, Robert Cornthwaite, and Douglas Spencer. James Arness plays The Thing, but he is difficult to recognize in costume and makeup due to both low lighting and other effects used to obscure The Thing from Another World is the first of the comic series published by Dark Horse Comics . The series acted as a continuation of the 1982 film The Thing , with three stories (The Thing from Another World , The Thing from Another World: Climate of Fear and The Thing from Another World: Eternal Vows) directly following its events, and a serialized visual novel (The Thing from Another World: Questionable Research) which ignored the preceding stories and acted as a separate stand-alone sequel to
