In some areas, such as Accounting or Manufacturing (I work in manufacturing), "In process" would refer to something that someone does every day, while "In Progress" could refer to a special project where work is being done. Hope it helps. Oct 17 2011 16:53:29. anonymous. Dr. Luke: Yes! The task is both in process, as you do it, and in progress, as the steps are happening! Process = unknown (what God is doing) must be trusted) Progress = known - (what we see that is trusted) Proverbs3:5-6 Hope that helps! In-Process. Yesterday at 1:41 AM Instagram. In-Process. 1.- What is the difference between "in process" and "in the process of" in a general context? 2.- And in this particular context: (A) You a Doctor already? (B) Well, still in process to become one. (Correct my mistakes, please, I would do so with yours).
